

Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., April 11, 1893.

The Superintendent, U. S. Mint,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

I wish you would say to Mr. Barber that I fully appreciate the merits of the design which he has sent on for the reverse of the souvenir quarter, that is, the figure of a woman kneeling, and think it has great merit; it is a question which has worried me not a little whether it would be appropriate to have a woman on each side of the coin.

I talked to Mr. Durborow, Member of Congress from Chicago, who was chairman of the World's Fair Committee of the House, on the subject to-day at some length, and he seemed to think that it was most too much woman. But I am not sure but what the nearest approach to the wishes of the Board of Lady Managers, aside from an advertisement of the Board, would be such a representation as Mr. Barber suggests, and so I telegraphed you to-day, asking that he forward as soon as he can conveniently a model of the woman kneeling without the lettering at the bottom, to which I object. At the same time I would like Mr. Barber, as I have suggested in prior letters, to submit some other design, original with himself, so that I may have more than one to lay before the Secretary.

Very respectfully,

C. A. Lucas
Director.

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 181

Treasury Department,
Bureau of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
April 11, 1893

The Superintendent, U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

I wish you would say to Mr. Barber that I fully appreciate the merits of the design which he has sent on for the reverse of the souvenir quarter, that is, the figure of a woman kneeling, and think it has great merit: it is a question which has worried me not a little whether it would be appropriate to have a woman on each side of the coin.

I talked to Mr. Durborow, Member of Congress from Chicago, who was Chairman of the World's Fair Committee of the House, on the subject to-day at some length, and he seemed to think that it was most too much woman. But I am not sure but what the nearest approach to the wishes of the Board of Lady Managers, aside from an advertisement of the Board, would be such a representation as Mr. Barber suggests, and so I telegraphed you to-day, asking that he forward as soon as he can conveniently a model of the woman kneeling without the lettering at the bottom, to which I object. At the same time I would like Mr. Barber, as I have suggested in prior letters, to submit some other design, original with himself, so that I may have more than one to lay before the Secretary.

Very respectfully,
E.O. Leech
Director.